

How do I get to downtown Minneapolis from the airport?

Getting to downtown Minneapolis from Minneapolis-St. Paul (MSP) airport is quick and easy. Minneapolis-St. Paul Airport is only 11 miles from downtown Minneapolis.

Metro Transit's Blue Line is the cheapest way, and very convenient. Taxis are plentiful, with fares around $40. Renting a car? Read on for driving directions from MSP to downtown Minneapolis.

Light Rail Trains from Minneapolis Airport to Downtown Minneapolis

Metro Transit's Blue Line light rail trains run directly to downtown Minneapolis. There is a station at both Terminal 1 (Lindberg) and Terminal 2 (Humphrey), for trains to downtown Minneapolis. Follow the signs in the airport.

There are five light rail stops in downtown Minneapolis - the Metrodome/Downtown East, Government Plaza, Nicollet Mall, Warehouse District, and Target Field. Your light rail ticket is also valid for use on Metro Transit buses with no extra charge (Your ticket is valid for 2.30 hours). The one-way fare is $1.75 during off-peak times, $2.25 during rush hour times. There are ticket machines which take cash and credit cards at each station.

Trains run approximately every 10 minutes from the early morning until late at night. Trains begin at about 4.30 am, and the last train is at about 2 am.

The journey time from Minneapolis-St. Paul airport to downtown Minneapolis is just under 30 minutes.